To day a highly influential delegation of memhers of both houses of Congress, with Vice President Hamlin at their head, waited on the President with a request numerously signed by loyal men of Florida, asking for the appointment of 10,000 COCOA-NUTS Hon. Eli Thayer as Governor of the State, with authority to raise 20,000 loval troops. They also presented to the President a paper, signed by thirty-four members of the Senate and House, concurring in the request, and also a paper from Gen Hunter, commanding the Department of the South, to the same effect.

The latest information says Hindman is on South Oak river, with all infantry; and the same authority says that Marmaduke is on the other side, with a heavy cavalry force. Our outposts are within 20 miles of Van Buren. Foraging on Boston Mountains is said to be entirely exhausted. Great activity prevails in the Federal army, and much interest is felt in the campaign. Herron had 30,000 men in the battle at Fred ericksburg, the remainder of his men failing to arrive on account of excessive fatigue. Maj Hubbard, of the 1st Missouri cavalry, who was a prisoner in the hands of the enemy on the day of the battle, counted twenty two regiqualified support to the war, but was continually placing obstacles in the way of its prosecution. He undertook to say that it was a delusion to think the war might have been prevented by the adoption of the Crittenden compromise. It is true that some of the leaders of the re-bellion had voted for that compromise, but the general assertment of Groceries, in store and for sale by history of subsequent events show that one or two had defeated the measure. He would go further and say that there was nothing in the compromise that would have prevented the rebellion. The enemies of the Administration held out the idea that the war was not for the restora but this was untrue, although such might be the result. They assert that the Administration tramples on the Constitution, and that all the Constitution. When the war broke out the enemies of the country were not confined to the rebel States, but were scattered over the land. Never was a conspiracy so well concocted. Notwithstanding the opinion of Judges Taney and Storey as to the President being guilty or violation of the Constitution in suspending the privilege of the habeas corpus, he justified President Lincoln in doing so. It was his duty to take all means to suppress the rebeliion. The confiscation of rebel preperty is another pretense for opposing the war. The enemies of this
